

LK-SL02C-NO Long Type Electric Strike

Long Type Electric Strike | Access Control Door Security

Product Overview

The LK-SL02C-NO is a long-type electric strike designed for professional door access control applications. Its extended strike-body design is intended for compatible door installations and integration with electronic access control systems. The product is designed to provide dependable door release operation as part of a controlled-entry solution.

- Key Features
- NO Configuration: Long-type electric strike configuration identified by the supplied product model.
 - Long-Type Design: Extended strike body for suitable door installations.
 - Durable Construction: Designed for reliable long-term access control use.
 - Smooth Operation: Designed for dependable electronic door release.
 - Access Control Ready: Suitable for integration with access control systems.
 - Door Compatibility: Designed for compatible door access applications.

Product Description

Specification	Details
Model	LK-SL02C-NO
Product Name	Long Type Electric Strike
Brand	LOKIZ
Product Type	Electric Strike
Configuration	NO
Design	Long Type
Application	Access Control Systems
Use	Controlled Door Entry / Door Security

info@lokiz.org
www.lokiz.org/